TALK SALES TAX PROGRAM

"SELECTIVE" LEVY WOULD BE PLACED ON LUXURY ARTICLES

RECOMMENDATIONS TO CONGRESS NOT COMPLETED BUT TAX HIKE IS NECESSARY

Washington, Oct. 22.—(U.P.)—The Hoover administration is considering a "selective" sales tax program, which would include a tax on luxury articles, as a means of building up the revenue base depleted by falling income tax collections.

While final decision has not been reached as to recommendations to be made to congress, it was indicated today that officials have about come to the conclusion that a tax increase will be necessary.

Among the articles being considered as subject for a sales tax are automobiles, radio sets, gasoline, matches, theatre admission and such other articles as were subject to the so-called "nuisance taxes" levied during the world war.

The almost absolute necessity of increasing tax schedules was revealed today in treasury figures showing that the deficit has mounted to the enormous total of $617,575,720, which indicated a deficit at the end of the present fiscal year approaching the $2,000,000,000 mark.

The automobile tax was defended by administration officials as logical, in view of the large sums of money the states and the government are spending to keep highways.

Officials explained in arguing for a selective sales tax, that the government now has a sales tax on tobacco, and that states have a sales tax in the gasoline levies.

PRODUCTION PLAN PROBE DEPICTS WIDE FLUCTUATIONS

TO DETERMINE FEASIBILITY OF ECONOMIC COUNCIL TO ADJUST CONSUMPTION

Washington, Oct. 22.—(U.P.)—The tremendous fluctuations of business in the past decade were depicted today in the La Follette committee's investigation into the feasibility of a national economic council to plan production and adjust it to consumption. Dr. A. E. Goldenweiser, federal reserve board research chief, testified the volume of industrial production has fallen 50 per cent since June, 1929. The drop followed a two-year period in which speculative industry increased production until it outran the country's consuming power, he said.

The November, 1929, stock market crash was an accelerative, not an original factor in the slump, he said.

Senator La Follette, Rep., Wis., as chairman of the manufactures committee, is conducting the hearing in company with Senators Hatfield, Rep., W. Va., and Sheppard, Dem., Tex., on a bill introduced by La Follette to set up a council of 15.

La Follette's bill would create a commission representing industry, finance, agriculture, transportation and labor equally, to be appointed by the president with the consent of the senate. It would have the duty of charting the country's economic progress ahead, and recommending to congress necessary changes to prevent slumps and inflations as far as possible.

Enlist Aid of Police Here in Search for Missing Heirs

Chief of Police Thomas Templeton has received a communication asking his help and the aid of The Daily Dispatch to locate the heirs of Henry or Harry Foster also known as Henry and Harry Pitts.

The letter from Chester J. O'Brien, Boston lawyer, says that there is a sum of money due the heirs and it is believed they are located somewhere in Minnesota and possibly in or adjacent Crow Wing county.

The father, Frank Potter and the mother, whose maiden name was Tegodan Mathews had lived in Minnesota for many years, the letter says.

Bank Com. Announces Closing of Two Banks

St. Paul, Oct. 22.—(U.P.)—State Commissioner of Bank J. N. Peyton today announced the closing of two southeastern Minnesota banks.

The Frontenac State Bank of Frontenac also was closed. It had deposits of $55,000. Depleted reserves were also blamed for the closing.

The permanent school fund got the major part of the payment with the university fund being credited with the rest.

SCOUR WEST COAST FOR WOMAN WANTED IN TRUNK MURDERS

POLICE SAY SLAYER MAY BE OVERCOME BY POISONING FROM VICTIMS' BODIES

Los Angeles, Calif., Oct. 22.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Winnie Ruth Judd, 27, accused of murdering two girls in Phoenix, Ariz., and shipping their bodies here, will be arrested soon, harassed local officers predicted today.

After sixty hours of futile searching police said they felt the end of the hunt was near and that the fugitive, accused of having slain Miss Hedvig Samuelson and Mrs. Agnes Lerol, would be taken in Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Oct. 22.—(U.P.)—Retribution in the form of a deadly toxin from the bodies of the victims may overtake the slayer of Agnes Lerol and Hedvig Samuelson, in the opinion of police surgeons.

If, as the police of two states insist, the killer is Winnie Ruth Judd, she may be fleeing to a rendezvous with an agonizing death, which may overtake her before the law can. The retribution, they believe, may be in her very veins.

The search for Mrs. Winnie Ruth Judd, wanted in connection with the slaying of two women in Phoenix, Ariz., turned to northern California today when police received two well founded reports that she had been seen here.

Every available policeman was summoned for a search of rooming houses and hotels here after Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Anderson of Merced, Calif., reported they had brought a woman "who looked exactly like Mrs. Judd" to Sacramento in their automobile last night.

The description given by the Andersons tallied with a report of five men in Visalia, Calif., who said they picked up the same woman hitch-hiking on the highway late Tuesday and brought her to Fresno. The Andersons encountered her at Merced, near Fresno, yesterday morning and brought her to Sacramento.

The Visalia men, all members of the American Legion, confirmed statements of the Andersons that the woman appeared "extremely nervous." She told the Andersons that she wanted to reach Placerville, north of Sacramento.

FAIL IN MOVE FOR EXTENSION OF DUCK HUNTING SEASON

CONTENTION THAT WARM WEATHER HAD CUT DOWN MIGRATION PROMPTED MOVE

Red Wing, Minn., Oct. 22.—(U.P.)—Efforts to have the duck hunting season extended an additional 15 days failed today when Congressman August Anderson announced that a movement seeking the extension had failed.

Anderson who serves on the agricultural committee of the lower house led the local movement for increasing the season to Nov. 15 answers to telegrams to the department of agriculture and the national biological survey informed him today that the request could not be granted.

Anderson had contended that the warm weather during the month had cut down the migration of ducks southward and that extension of the season into November would allow hunters an opportunity to obtain game.

Telegrams from the two federal departments today blamed the small flights of ducks on a scarcity of birds and said that only a closed season would bring duck hunting back to former volume.

The duck hunting season now will end Oct. 31.

HOME DEMONSTRATION LEADER ADDRESSES COUNTY WOMEN LEADERS AT DINNER

Thirty township home chairmen representing 30 communities in Crow Wing county met at a luncheon at Archer's cafe today with the state home demonstration leader, Miss Julia O. Newton, to lay out plans for a new project to start this fall.

Projects that will be taken up for consideration by the leaders from these groups are nutrition, child development, poultry or home management. More than 700 women of the county have taken project work through the agricultural extension division in the past years.

These township home chairmen after hearing the plans outlined by Miss Newton will return to their respective communities, organize their local groups, and select two leaders for each group, who will receive special training from specialists sent out by the Agricultural Extension Division of the University of Minnesota. These leaders will in turn give these instructions back to the various groups.

After the luncheon and meeting which started at 12:45 p. m. these farm ladies were the guests of the Brainerd Musical club at a theatre party given by the Paramount theatre.

Lights Fade as Nation Honors Memory of Edison

New York, Oct. 21.—(U.P.)—Millions of flashing, blinking lights from Broadway of New York to the Golden Gate at San Francisco were turned down last night in memory of Thomas A. Edison.

It was as if some giant hand had quenched in a single stroke virtually all illumination, harking back to the days of gas light more than 52 years ago—before Edison's experiments with filaments had brought forth the incandescent bulb.

The light Liberty holds aloft in New York harbor went dark for a minute as did the beacon atop the Empire State building.

So dependent is modern civilization on Edison's invention, however, that it was impossible to put out every light. Subway lights, for instance, remained lit, but gay Broadway, famed for its thousands of electric signs, became for sixty seconds at 10 P. M. a dark thoroughfare lighted only by the illumination from a few small stores.

Edison was buried at dusk in Rosedale cemetery, West Orange. The Rev. Dr. Stephen J. Herben, Methodist pastor, a life-long friend of the inventor, read the poem "Just Asleep," expressing the hope of eternal life. Each member of the family threw a rosebud on the coffin.

Among the mourners were Mrs. Hoover, Henry Ford and Harvey Firestone.

FARMERS ABANDON PLAN FOR UNITED FRONT IN T. B. FIGHT

OFFER BUT PASSIVE RESISTANCE AFTER MASS MEETING ATTENDED BY 2,000

Burlington, Iowa, Oct. 22.—(U.P.)—Rebellious farmers decided today that discretion is the better part of valor and voted to offer only passive resistance to cattle testing in Des Moines county.

The vote came after a meeting that lasted most of the night and during which farm leaders counselled against using force to keep national guardsmen and veterinarians at bay.

The "army" of farmers that had gathered at the farm of Jake Everstman, president of the County Farmers' Protective association and leader of the protest movement, had swelled to nearly 2,000, it was estimated, and many hundreds of automobiles jammed the roads and fields about the farm as the crisis came early today.

C. L. McKinnon, who has been a leader throughout the state in the movement to oppose the compulsory testing law, addressed the farmers last night and urged them to abandon plans for offering organized resistance.

Rumor Vice-President Curtis as Oil Czar

Tulsa, Okla., Oct. 22.—(U.P.)—Rumor said today that the petroleum industry would be directed by an oil czar who would be invested with powers similar to those exercised by the present dictators of the motion picture industry and baseball.

The Tulsa World said that it had learned from reliable sources that Vice President Charles Curtis would resign before Christmas to accept the job. Curtis, however, described the report as "nonsense without any foundation of fact."

The plan, the World said, is conditioned upon approval of the American petroleum institute at its session in November at Chicago.

LEAGUE TALKS MOVE WITHOUT CHINESE, JAPANESE APPROVAL

CALLS FOR COMPLETE WITHDRAWAL OF MANCHURIAN AREA BY NOV. 16

Geneva, Oct. 22.—(U.P.)—The League of Nations council has agreed on a formula for settlement of the dispute over Manchuria, but without the agreement of Japan and China, Aristide Briand, presiding, announced at a session of the council this afternoon.

The session of the council was attended by Prentiss Gilbert, United States observer.

States observer, Gilbert, in the railway zone of Manchuria, where she is allowed to have them by treaty with China, so that complete withdrawal will have ended before the next meeting of the council on Nov. 16.

Japan has strenuously resisted the setting of any date for completion of withdrawal, and the council's action challenges her directly to meet the league's wishes in that regard or, presumably take the onus for failure of the league's efforts to settle the problem.

Participation of Gilbert in the decisive meeting ending temporarily the council's efforts was agreed to by Japan.

Powers' Views Unchanged Briand, in announcing the resolution, said:

"The views of China and Japan are unchanged but the league is assured there is at present no danger of war, which is our first concern. Japan insists she has no territorial designs and desires to evacuate, wishing only protection of her nationals.

"China says she is ready to study and give guarantees for the protection of the Japanese. Hence, it is necessary that we find a formula or draft a resolution which will stabilize the situation now."

The proposed resolution has not yet been passed by the council. The league decided to postpone discussion of its adoption until 5 p. m. tomorrow. Yoshizawa said he was unable to set any time limit for Japanese troops withdrawal.

China Must Protect Japs The resolution demands that China take adequate measures to protect Japanese nationals as far as the evacuated territory is taken over by China. The resolution requests China to ask the assistance of other powers relative to measures to protect Japanese nationals.

The resolution recommends that after evacuation, Japan and China establish a permanent conciliation commission for the settlement of all pending disputes.

For the first time in the negotiations, the resolution reminds Japan of her obligations under the nine power Pacific pact. By that agreement, arising from the Washington conference of 1922, nine leading powers agreed to respect the sovereignty and territorial integrity of China and to refrain from taking advantage of conditions in China to seek special privileges.

Size asked for time to study the Japanese speech and refer the text of the council's resolution to his government.

Menominee, Wis., Oct. 22.—(U.P.)—A body believed to be that of one of the Kraft State Bank robbers was found today near Shell Lake, Sheriff I. L. Harmon of Dunn county was informed by wire. He left immediately to investigate.

Suspected of being one of the men who participated in the Kraft State Bank robbery at Menominee, a man giving his name as George Morgan, 26, Toronto, Canada, was held in the county jail today pending efforts to identify him.

Menominee, Wis., Oct. 22.—(U.P.)—A $1,000 reward for capture of the Kraft State Bank bandits who killed the son of the president, in revenge when one of their gang was slain was posted today.

The Dunn county board of sponsors approved the expenditure at a special meeting, late yesterday. The sponsors also authorized the sheriff to spend up to $1,000 in additional funds in his efforts to trace the trio who ruthlessly killed James Kraft, 19, assistant cashier in his fathers bank, when a vigilante's well placed shot fatally injured Frank Webster, their companion in crime.

The bandits were believed to have escaped at least temporarily after working their way into Minnesota. They were reported seen south of Markville after Lawrence Augustine, county road patrolman had helped pull the trio out of the mud when they were stuck near Web Lake.

MODEST CEREMONY HERALDS LAVAL'S ARRIVAL IN U. S.

FRENCH PREMIER PREPARED TO PROPOSE COMPROMISE WITH PRES. HOOVER

Washington, Oct. 22.—(U.P.)—Premier Pierre Laval of France and his party arrived this afternoon from New York and was received with such modest ceremony as this republican democracy affords.

An infantry guard of honor lifted their arms to a smart "present," as Laval, Mile. Josette and members of their party emerged from the carous train shed into the warm sunshine of an Indian summer day.

The party arrived at 3:15 p. m.

Paris, Oct. 22.—(U.P.)—Premier Laval of France is prepared to promise to President Hoover that France will relinquish part of her reparations claims in exchange for which the United States will withhold financial and economical aid to nations declared the aggressor in event of war, it was learned authoritatively today.

France is ready to aid America in withdrawal of short term credits, which at present are frozen in Germany.

The transmission line will be the property of the city, service over it to be leased to the mill.

The work of installing the line was started yesterday with details of the agreement to be formally approved by the water and light department, the city council and mill officials later.

Employment of Brainerd men at the mill depends on the company receiving power to operate. The situation was brought by the lowering of the water in the Mississippi river disrupting the operation of the mill's generating plant.

30 TOWNSHIP HOME CHAIRMAN PLAN NEW PROJECT THIS FALL

HOME DEMONSTRATION LEADER ADDRESSES COUNTY WOMEN LEADERS AT DINNER

Thirty township home chairmen representing 30 communities in Crow Wing county met at a luncheon at Archer's cafe today with the state home demonstration leader, Miss Julia O. Newton, to lay out plans for a new project to start this fall. Projects that will be taken up for consideration by the leaders from these groups are nutrition, child development, poultry or home management. More than 700 women of the county have taken project work through the agricultural extension division in the past years.

These township home chairmen after hearing the plans outlined by Miss Newton will return to their respective communities, organize their local groups, and select two leaders for each group, who will receive special training from specialists sent out by the Agricultural Extension Division of the University of Minnesota. These leaders will in turn give these instructions back to the various groups.

After the luncheon and meeting which started at 12:45 p. m. these farm ladies were the guests of the Brainerd Musical club at a theatre party given by the Paramount theatre.

Lights Fade as Nation Honors Memory of Edison

New York, Oct. 21.—(U.P.)—Millions of flashing, blinking lights from Broadway of New York to the Golden Gate at San Francisco were turned down last night in memory of Thomas A. Edison.

It was as if some giant hand had quenched in a single stroke virtually all illumination, harking back to the days of gas light more than 52 years ago—before Edison's experiments with filaments had brought forth the incandescent bulb.

The light Liberty holds aloft in New York harbor went dark for a minute as did the beacon atop the Empire State building.

So dependent is modern civilization on Edison's invention, however, that it was impossible to put out every light. Subway lights, for instance, remained lit, but gay Broadway, famed for its thousands of electric signs, became for sixty seconds at 10 P. M. a dark thoroughfare lighted only by the illumination from a few small stores.

Edison was buried at dusk in Rosedale cemetery, West Orange. The Rev. Dr. Stephen J. Herben, Methodist pastor, a life-long friend of the inventor, read the poem "Just Asleep," expressing the hope of eternal life. Each member of the family threw a rosebud on the coffin.

Among the mourners were Mrs. Hoover, Henry Ford and Harvey Firestone.

LIONS CLUB TO PETITION BABCOCK TO START BRIDGE WORK HERE THIS FALL

The Brainerd Lions club at its dinner meeting last night at the Ransford hotel took the initiative in asking that the proposed state highway bridge to span the Mississippi river at Main street be started this fall or early winter to provide work for the unemployed.

A formal resolution adopted by the club calls for a petition to be sent C. M. Babcock, state commissioner of highways, asking for the start of construction as soon as possible after the bids are opened November 10.

Miss Julia O. Newton, State Home Demonstration leader, U. of M., addressed the Lions on the home project work sponsored by the Agricultural Extension Division.

"A great deal of attention has been paid to improving of livestock and crops etc. in the state and not enough attention to the building of the home and the bringing up of children. The home project work which groups in Crow Wing county will study this fall and winter means the development of these phases, child development, nutrition, home management, economical home planning," Miss Newton said.

The home project groups will receive the cooperation of County Agent E. G. Roth.

Dr. G. I. Badeaux appeared in a group of songs.

MILE AND HALF LINE TO SUPPLY POWER TO KEEP MILL RUNNING

POWER LINE TO BE TAPPED IN EAST CITY LIMITS NEAR GUN RANGE

A mile and a half of transmission line will supply The Northwest Paper Mill with power to keep operating this fall and winter in the plan arranged between mill officials and the City Water and Light Department, it was learned today.

The line will be installed by the city department. Work on it has already started.

The power for the mill will be tapped from the load lines of the Minnesota Power and Light on the east city limits about a quarter of a mile from the trapshoot range.

The transmission line will be the property of the city, service over it to be leased to the mill.

The work of installing the line was started yesterday with details of the agreement to be formally approved by the water and light department, the city council and mill officials later.

Employment of Brainerd men at the mill depends on the company receiving power to operate. The situation was brought by the lowering of the water in the Mississippi river disrupting the operation of the mill's generating plant.

Johnson Plans Title Bout in February

New York, Oct. 22.—(U.P.)—Twenty-four hours of activity by James J. Johnston as boxing director of Madison Square Garden has produced sufficient prospective bouts to keep the Garden busy for months.

With Paulino Uzcudun disapproved by the New York State Athletic commission as an opponent for Primo Carnera in Johnston's first show, Nov. 13, the "boy bandit" is attempting to match Carnera with Victorio Campolo or Paulino with Tommy Loughran, Ernie Schaaf or Mickey Walker.

Campolo is eager for the chance with Carnera but the Italian and his Manager Leon See want easier opposition.

Other feature bouts proposed by Johnston included Mickey Walker vs. Max Schmeling at Miami in February; Schmeling vs. Jack Sharkey at New York in June and Jack Dempsey against Carnera, Sharkey or Schmeling.

LEAGUE TALKS MOVE WITHOUT CHINESE, JAPANESE APPROVAL

CALLS FOR COMPLETE WITH- DRAWAL OF MANCHURIAN AREA BY NOV. 16

Geneva, Oct. 22.—(U.P.)—The League of Nations council has agreed on a formula for settlement of the dispute over Manchuria, but without the agreement of Japan and China, Aristide Briand, presiding, announced at a session of the council this afternoon.

The session of the council was attended by Prentiss Gilbert, United States observer.

tion of the council, calls into the railway zone of Manchuria, where she is allowed to have them by treaty with China, so that complete withdrawal will have ended before the next meeting of the council on Nov. 16.

Japan has strenuously resisted the setting of any date for completion of withdrawal, and the council's action challenges her directly to meet the league's wishes in that regard or, presumably take the onus for failure of the league's efforts to settle the problem.

Participation of Gilbert in the decisive meeting ending temporarily the council's efforts was agreed to by Japan.

Powers' Views Unchanged
Briand, in announcing the resolution, said:

"The views of China and Japan are unchanged but the league is assured there is at present no danger of war, which is our first concern. Japan insists she has no territorial designs and desires to evacuate, wishing only protection of her nationals.

"China says she is ready to study and give guarantees for the protection of the Japanese. Hence, it is necessary that we find a formula or draft a resolution which will stabilize the situation now."

The proposed resolution has not yet been passed by the council. The league decided to postpone discussion of its adoption until 5 p. m. tomorrow. Yoshizawa said he was unable to set any time limit for Japanese troops withdrawal.

China Must Protect Japs
The resolution demands that China take adequate measures to protect Japanese nationals as far as the evacuated territory is taken over by China. The resolution requests China to ask the assistance of other powers relative to measures to protect Japanese nationals.

The resolution recommends that after evacuation, Japan and China establish a permanent conciliation commission for the settlement of all pending disputes.

For the first time in the negotiations, the resolution reminds Japan of her obligations under the nine power Pacific pact. By that agreement, arising from the Washington conference of 1922, nine leading powers agreed to respect the sovereignty and territorial integrity of China and to refrain from taking advantage of conditions in China to seek special privileges.

Size asked for time to study the Japanese speech and refer the text of the council's resolution to his government.

Indians Erect Grotto at East Approach to Highway Bridge

Inherent faith of a Chippewa in them to turn to the religious belief in dian and his brother today prompted time of emergency.

The Chippewa, Charles Cloud, and his brother, Michael, today completed the erection of a grotto at the east approach to the highway bridge over the Mississippi river.

A crucifix, made of concrete, has been carved by the Indians who also have built statues of St. Francis and other patrons of their faith at St. Paul and other places.

Out of work and unable to find employment, the Indians have turned to the erection of these grottoes to aid them in making a livelihood for their families.

PRICELESS DOCUMENTS, INCLUDING COLUMBUS' DIPLOMA, FOUND IN ROME

Rome, Oct. 19.—(UP)—Two priceless documents—one, the original diploma which Ferdinand and Isabella gave to Christopher Columbus appointing him "admiral of the Indies" before he set out to find the new world, have just been discovered.

These, with a third document unearthed in the Vatican archives, establish decisively the Italian origin of the discoverer, according to Professor Francesco Creti, who made the announcement to the United Press today.

Professor Creti has been searching for these documents for a lifetime. He believes he has a completed chain of records which prove that Columbus was born near Genoa and that during his whole adventurous career the fact that he was an Italian must have constantly been mentioned in the documents of the time.

The original diploma appointing Columbus an admiral was found in the archives of the museum of Seville after many years of toil and effort. The whole of the handwriting is plainly legible to anyone who can read the Spanish language. Professor Creti said. The fact that Columbus was not a Spaniard was noted in the wording of the bestowal of command. The date of the document "1492" confirming the date of the discovery of America.

Even more interesting than the first document is the second document, according to Professor Creti. This is dated 1493, after the return of Columbus from his first voyage. This document goes into length to describe the honors bestowed and to give a clear indication of the coat-of-arms which Ferdinand and Isabella had approved for their hero.

One fact in the second was especially important, said Professor Creti. A fourth of the crest was left without description. This was interpreted as indicating that Columbus came from a locality outside of Spain and for that reason the two sovereigns could not design the entirety of the heraldic badge because they were not familiar with the characteristic features of his birthplace. They therefore left it vacant to be designed by Columbus himself.

SEE MAN WHO MADE RACKETS PAY WHILE CAPONE WAS HEAD AS HIS SUCCESSOR

Chicago, Oct. 16.—(UP)—Underworld politics already is electing a successor to Al Capone.

Perhaps the "pre-election" hubbub will prove unnecessary. A jury in United States district court which has heard Capone's income tax fraud trial will decide.

If Capone is forced to abdicate the post of gang despot he has held for six years, an astute, cocky Jew with a flair for spats and a cane is considered the likely candidate for the office.

Hymie Levin, good natured but calculating, a redoubtable foe across the contract bridge table but a poor shot with a pistol or machine gun, since he probably has never shot either, is the logical successor to Al Capone.

The choice lies between Hymie and a taller, heavier man with the same sort of sleeked black hair and dusky eyes, Murray Humphries, also a heretofore silent partner in the Capone syndicate.

Few people have heard of Levin and Humphries. Their names have not appeared in the stories of Chicago's gang wars. Neither is the killer type.

But both have long been the "brains" of the Capone gang, with ill-fated Jack Guzik, who faces five years in the penitentiary for income tax evasion, and a few other counted out.

"Hymie Levin is the man to head the gang," came the opinion of the Capone underlings today. "If Al has to do a stretch, Hymie can carry on."

"Murray Humphries ought to be second in command. He's smart—but he is not as smart as Hymie. Hymie is the guy who made the rackets pay dividends when Al was in jail in Philadelphia."

Dispute Disrupts G. A. R. Post

Pawtucket, R. I.—(UP)—Tower Post G. A. R., which once boasted 650 members, has gone out of existence. This resulted from a dispute between two of the four surviving members, Charles H. Lewis and Robert M. Pollard, over the commandship of the Post.

Civil Service Announces Exams for Four Offices

SWEDEN BUILDS PONTOONS TO RAISE SUBS

INVENTION DRAWS ATTENTION OF WORLD'S NAVAL EXPERTS

Stockholm.—(UP)—A new device for the salvaging of sunken submarines and their crews has been patented by a Swedish civil engineer, Ragnar Blomquist.

It consists of a number of folding pontoons built into the hull of the submarine and always ready for use. Being collapsible, they occupy little space and can be mechanically filled with air through a pneumatic device operated from the inside of the ship.

When completely filled, they increase the displacement of the craft considerably and are thus able to raise it to the surface.

The pontoons are extremely light in weight, and, being many in number, a few of them will always remain intact even if the rest are in case of a collision.

The inventor's arrangement calculated to regulate automatically the atmospheric pressure to correspond with the pressure of the surrounding water while the submarine is being raised by aid of the pontoons.

Blomquist has experimented with a model apparatus at 70 meters, and it has functioned very satisfactorily. The invention now will be offered to the Swedish navy, which already has taken an interest in its development.

SEA BATTLE AT RIGA

On Oct. 21, 1917, the Germans suffered heavy losses in fighting in and near the Gulf of Riga.

Six German torpedo boats were sunk, and two dreadnaughts, one cruiser, six torpedo boats, and one transport were put out of action.

The Russian fleet was driven into the inner waters of Moon Sound behind a barrier of mines planted by German submarines. German submarines appeared in the Gulf of Finland.

Later the German fleet bombarded positions on the western coast of the Gulf of Riga.

British troops attacked the Turks northwest of Bagdad, and the Turks retreated. The British captured a number of prisoners and much ammunition.

And while the German fleet was bombarding the Gulf of Riga, Allied warships were bombarding Ostend.

PRICELESS DOCUMENTS, INCLUDING COLUMBUS' DIPLOMA, FOUND IN ROME

Rome, Oct. 19.—(U.P.)—Two priceless documents—one, the original diploma which Ferdinand and Isabella gave to Christopher Columbus appointing him "admiral of the Indies" before he set out to find the new world, have just been discovered.

These, with a third document unearthed in the Vatican archives, establish decisively the Italian origin of the discoverer, according to Professor Francesco Creti, who made the announcement to the United Press today.

Professor Creti has been searching for these documents for a lifetime. He believes he has a completed chain of records which prove that Columbus was born near Genoa and that during his whole adventurous career the fact that he was an Italian must have constantly been mentioned in the documents of the time.

The original diploma appointing Columbus an admiral was found in the archives of the museum of Seville after many years of toil and effort. The whole of the handwriting is plainly legible to anyone who can read the Spanish language, Professor Creti said. The fact that Columbus was not a Spaniard was noted in the wording of the bestowal of command. The date of the document "1492" confirming the date of the discovery of America.

Even more interesting than the first document is the second document, according to Professor Creti. This is dated 1493, after the return of Columbus from his first voyage. This document goes into length to describe the honors bestowed and to give a clear indication of the coat-of-arms which Ferdinand and Isabella had approved for their hero.

One fact in the second was especially important, said Professor Creti. A fourth of the crest was left without description. This was interpreted as indicating that Columbus came from a locality outside of Spain and for that reason the two sovereigns could not design the entirety of the heraldic badge because they were not familiar with the characteristic features of his birthplace. They therefore left it vacant to be designed by Columbus himself.

SEE MAN WHO MADE RACKETS PAY WHILE CAPONE WAS HE LD AS HIS SUCCESSOR

Chicago, Oct. 16.—(U.P.)—Underworld politics already is electing a successor to Al Capone.

Perhaps the "pre-election" hubbub will prove unnecessary. A jury in United States district court which has heard Capone's income tax fraud trial will decide.

If Capone is forced to abdicate the post of gang boss he has held for six years, an astute, cocky Jew with a flair for spats and a cane is considered the likely candidate for the office.

Hymie Levin, good natured but calculating, a redoubtable foe across the contract bridge table but a poor shot with a pistol or machine gun, since he probably has never shot either, is the logical successor to Al Capone.

The choice lies between Hymie and a taller, heavier man with the same sort of sleeked black hair and dusky eyes, Murray Humphries, also a heretofore silent partner in the Capone syndicate.

Few people have heard of Levin and Humphries. Their names have not appeared in the stories of Chicago's gang wars. Neither is the killer type.

But both have long been the "brains" of the Capone gang, with ill-fated Jack Guzik, who faces five years in the penitentiary for income tax evasion, and a few other counted out.

"Hymie Levin is the man to head the gang," came the opinion of the Capone underlings today. "If Al has to do a stretch, Hymie can carry on."

Murray Humphries ought to be second in command. He's smart—but he is not as smart as Hymie. Hymie is the guy who made the rackets pay dividends when Al was in jail in Philadelphia.

INVASION OF RIGA

On Oct. 22, 1917, the Germans carried their invasion in the Gulf of Riga to the mainland by seizing the Werder Peninsula.

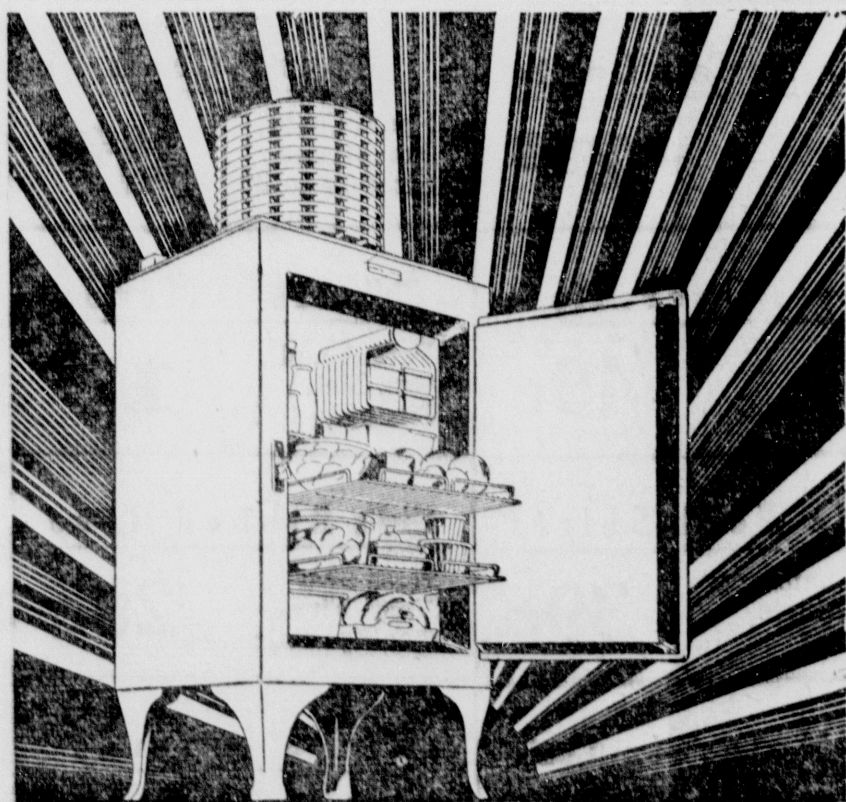

This strip of land is opposite Moon Island, where the Germans appeared the day before. The village of Warder was taken by the Germans. This village is about 25 miles south of Hapsal.

The Russians, swept before the invasion, started to evacuate Reval.

Meantime British and French attacks in Belgium in the neighborhood of Poelcapelle, and south of Houtholst Forest were reported by Field Marshal Haig as "highly successful." All the objectives were captured.

Lloyd George, speaking in Albert Hall, London, said: "There will be no peace in the world until the shrine of the war spirit in Potsdam is shattered and its priesthood is dispersed and discredited forever."

TALENTED LOMBARDI MUSICIANS APPEAR IN CONCERT MONDAY

BRAINERD CHORAL CLUB TO ASSIST; AUXILIARY BAND SPONSORS PROGRAM

On Monday evening, October 26 in the Elks' hall, Maestro Luigi Lombardi, with a group of skilled musicians selected from his Range Symphony Orchestra, will present a concert of chamber music. This concert will be under the auspices of the American Legion Auxiliary band.

The members feel that in presenting the Lombardi group, they are giving Brainerd an opportunity of hearing the best there is in music.

Appearing with the quintette will be a contralto soloist and in the closing number an ensemble introducing the "Brainerd Choral Club."

The Choral club, in its attitude towards its work, can not be praised too highly for its sincerity of purpose. No time or effort has been considered too much to attain its ideal of the highest standard of technique and interpretation. The result has been the attainment to perfect pitch and excellent tone quality.

Lombardi once heard the "Choral Club" in rehearsal prior to its appearance at one of the state contests. Remembering its commendable work he suggested its appearing with him upon this occasion.

The music selected by Lombardi and Miss Effie Drexler for such an ensemble required a contralto soloist. For this reason instead of bringing his regular soloist, who is a soprano, he has secured the contralto, Florence Downham, from Minneapolis.

The number being used by Choral club, soloist, and six instrumentalists in ensemble will be "Reve Angelique" by Rubenstein. It has been arranged in choral paraphrase by Samuel Richard Gaines. Lombardi has written the orchestral score.

Rubenstein, a Russian pianiste, and a great composer, left compositions in almost every known form. His music in general shows great dignity and inclines to the melodians. These two qualities combine to make his work beloved and immortal.

The "Reve Angelique" will be recognized by many as an arrangement of the piano composition "Kamennoi Ostrow." Rubenstein wrote the composition as a musical portrait with a background of cathedral music; the chanting choir and cathedral bells.

The choral arrangement opens with a choir heard from afar, haunting in melody, beautiful in harmony. The choir song dies away and the instruments take up the theme, followed by the rich, full voice of the soloist. From then on there is a continual upbuilding until the climax of music and emotion breaks in a magnificent burst of thrilling song from voice and instrument.

In singing its part in this number the "Choral Club" feels it is presenting one of its most impressive and beautiful songs and adding something of significance to its repertoire.

Turkey Crop Promising

Lumber Firm Announces New Heating Service

A new fuel conservation and house heating service has been announced by the Hayes-Lucas Lumber Co., who are urging local residents to make use of it without charge.

According to R. L. Geist of this company much fuel is wasted and unsatisfactory heating results obtained due to three major causes.

"Many people use the wrong kind of fuel, unsuited to their heating plants," he says, and adds, "others waste a good share of the coal they buy by feeding or piling it in the furnace so that much of the heat goes up the chimney instead of into the house."

A third and perhaps the largest waste according to Mr. Geist is due to heat leakage through roofs. This, he says, can be stopped by a recently developed wood wool blanket, called balsam-wool, which is spread in attics of houses already built. Substantial results in fuel saving are reported by those who have had such a blanket installed.

NEW DICTIONARY LISTS SLANG

Chicago—(UP)—Noah Webster might have thumbed through all his source books and etymological tables in vain and never found definitions of some of the words listed in the new "Historical Dictionary of American English."

Indeed, the worthy lexicographer might be profoundly shocked, could he return today to examine the new dictionary being prepared under the auspices of the University of Chicago and the editorship of Sir William Craigie, for 30 years editor of the Oxford dictionary.

In the new dictionary is found the language of the street, the night club and the speakeasy, of inventions, institutions and developments undreamed of when Webster set himself to his task.

More than 400,000 words have been recorded for the new book. A few examples of words follow:

Boogie, speakeasy, blah, fizzle, whoopee, ace, black bottom, deb, awful, debunk, blighter, dizzy, flincky, Black Maria, blockhead.

DRY AGENT TELLS SNAKE STORY

Cheyenne, Wyo.—(UP)—Tales have been told of the snakes which drive dipsomaniacs from their beds, and when a state law enforcement officer complained here recently that he had been troubled in a similar manner, there were many smiles.

R. J. Allen, Wyoming's state law enforcement commissioner, accompanied by two federal prohibition agents, was searching for an illicit distillery in the mountains near here.

The party came upon a trapper's cabin, where they believed the still-tender lived. The occupant was not at home when the officers arrived, so they built a roaring fire and sat down to wait.

Night came, so they decided to spend the night at the cabin. The large room became too warm and they opened the door which led into a small room.

Some time during the night, Allen awoke to find snakes crawling all over him. An examination revealed that the floor of the cabin was covered with the gliding reptiles. Allen awoke his companions. They fled. The trapper returned the next morning.

PRESIDENT ASKS NATION TO HAVE FAITH, STRENGTH AND RESOLUTION FOR FUTURE

Yorktown, Va., Oct. 19.—(UP)—President Hoover told the nation today to have "confidence, faith, courage, strength and resolution for the future."

No one can read history, he said, without realizing that the forefathers of America encountered temporary obstacles from time to time and yet the nation moved forward to every increasing strength.

His views were set forth in a speech from a flag decorated, wooden amphitheatre, built on the ground where Lord Cornwallis handed his sword to George Washington 150 years ago today to end the revolutionary war.

At the very hour, 11 a. m., when the brilliant red-coated army of England marched out of the line at Yorktown with his band playing "The World Upside Down," the president mounted the rostrum to deliver the climatic speech of the Yorktown sesquicentennial celebration.

Mr. Hoover looked upon the Yorktown victory as a triumph of the liberty loving wing of the English speaking people—a victory which ultimately was carried forward and triumphed in England itself.

To the French, whose premier is now on his way to this country for a friendly conference, the president paid tribute. He said Franco-American cooperation was born of a common cause in the revolution and carried forward in the cooperation the American people gave France in the world war.

Following is the text of the president's address:

"Our guest and my fellow countrymen: "No person here present, no school child of the millions listening in on this occasion, needs reminder of the significance of the battle of Yorktown. If he judge it by the standard of battles in which the contrary result would have essentially varied the whole course of history, then it becomes one of the very few decisive battles in the history of the world.

"Six years of war for independence had sorely exhausted the resources, depleted the forces, and sapped the support of that group of men whose genius gave freedom to our country. With the inroads the mother country had made in subjection of the northern colonies, it is extremely doubtful if the struggle for independence could have succeeded had Washington lost at Yorktown. Certainly with the victory at Yorktown, our independence was won."

ing and explained that he had captured the snakes and intended to convert them into snake oil, widely used in liniment.

The pile of wood in the adjoining room in reality was a pile of snakes, which, stiffened by the cold, looked very much like wood.

Spanked Over Milk

Danbury, Conn.—(UP)—Mrs. William Dunn hailed her husband into court here, charging he spanked her with a barrel stave when she insisted their baby should have grade A rather than grade B milk.

PRAYER MEETING AIDED NEEDY

Chicago, October—(UP)—Practical application of a Wednesday night prayer meeting text, "sowing good seed," was made by members of the New England Congregational church. During the prayer meeting a parishioner announced an opportunity for doing good.

"As I came down Lake Shore drive," he said, "I saw a man and a woman on the parkway adjoining the beach. He was rubbing her feet, apparently trying to warm them, and then wrapped his coat around them."

TALENTED LOMBARDI MUSICIANS APPEAR IN CONCERT MONDAY

BRAINERD CHORAL CLUB TO ASSIST; AUXILIARY BAND SPONSORS PROGRAM

On Monday evening, October 26 in the Elks' hall, Maestro Luigi Lombardi, with a group of skilled musicians selected from his Range Symphony Orchestra, will present a concert of chamber music. This concert will be under the auspices of the American Legion Auxiliary band.

The members feel that in presenting the Lombardi group, they are giving Brainerd an opportunity of hearing the best there is in music.

Appearing with the quintette will be a contralto soloist and in the closing number an ensemble introducing the "Brainerd Choral Club."

The Choral club, in its attitude towards its work, can not be praised too highly for its sincerity of purpose. No time or effort has been considered too much to attain its ideal of the highest standard of technique and interpretation. The result has been the attainment to perfect pitch and excellent tone quality.

Lombardi once heard the "Choral Club" in rehearsal prior to its appearance at one of the state contests. Remembering its commendable work he suggested its appearing with him upon this occasion.

The music selected by Lombardi and Miss Effie Drexler for such an ensemble required a contralto soloist. For this reason instead of bringing his regular soloist, who is a soprano, he has secured the contralto, Florence Downham, from Minneapolis.

The number being used by Choral club, soloist, and six instrumentalists in ensemble will be "Reve Angeli" by Rubenstein. It has been arranged in choral paraphrase by Samuel Richard Gaines. Lombardi has written the orchestral score.

Rubenstein, a Russian pianiste, and a great composer, left compositions in almost every known form. His music in general shows great dignity and inclines to the melodians. These two qualities combine to make his work beloved and immortal.

The "Reve Angeli" will be recognized by many as an arrangement of the piano composition "Kamennoi Ostrov." Rubenstein wrote the composition as a musical portrait with a background of cathedral music; the chanting choir and cathedral bells.

The choral arrangement opens with a choir heard from afar, haunting in melody, beautiful in harmony. The choir song dies away and the instruments take up the theme, followed by the rich, full voice of the soloist. From then on there is a continual upbuilding until the climax of music and emotion breaks in a magnificent burst of thrilling song from voice and instrument.

In singing its part in this number the "Choral Club" feels it is presenting one of its most impressive and beautiful songs and adding something of significance to its repertoire.

Turkey Crop Promising

Hanford, Calif.—(UP)—The turkey crop this year will be slightly larger than last year in this county and the prices will be about the same as in 1930, but the farmers will profit more. Thus predicted Assistant Farm Advisor Huxley L. Gailbraith after surveying the turkey situation.

Lumber Firm Announces New Heating Service

A new fuel conservation and house heating service has been announced by the Hayes-Lucas Lumber Co., who are urging local residents to make use of it without charge.

According to R. L. Geist of this company much fuel is wasted and unsatisfactory heating results obtained due to three major causes.

"Many people use the wrong kind of fuel, unsuited to their heating plants," he says, and adds, "others waste a good share of the coal they buy by feeding or piling it in the furnace so that much of the heat goes up the chimney instead of into the house."

A third and perhaps the largest waste according to Mr. Geist is due to heat leakage through roofs. This last, he says, can be stopped by a recently developed wood wool blanket, called balsam-wool, which is spread in attics of houses already built. Substantial results in fuel saving are reported by those who have had such a blanket installed.

NEW DICTIONARY LISTS SLANG

Chicago—(UP)—Noah Webster might have thumbed through all his source books and etymological tables in vain and never found definitions of some of the words listed in the new "Historical Dictionary of American English."

Indeed, the worthy lexicographer might be profoundly shocked, could he return today to examine the new dictionary being prepared under the auspices of the University of Chicago and the editorship of Sir William Craigie, for 30 years editor of the Oxford dictionary.

In the new dictionary is found the language of the street, the night club and the speakeasy, of inventions, institutions and developments undreamed of when Webster set himself to his task.

More than 400,000 words have been recorded for the new book. A few examples of words follow:

Bootee, speakeasy, blah, fizzle, whoopee, ace, black bottom, deb, awful, debunk, blighter, dizzy, finicky, Black Maria, blockhead.

DANIEL WEBSTER LIKED ILLINOIS

Springfield, Ill., October—(AP)—The Illinois State Journal, preparing to celebrate its 100th birthday next month, finds in its old files an explanation of the story that Daniel Webster once planned to settle on a Sangamon County estate and that he established the town of Salisbury, naming it for the place of his nativity in New Hampshire.

Webster made a visit to the Sangamon country in 1837, speaking at Jacksonville and Springfield. He was delighted with the country and declared he envied Governor Duncan, then Illinois' chief executive, his "fine domain," referring to the governor's holdings. He said, too, that he would be proud if he were able to compete with the "prince of Illinois farmers," Jacob Strawn.

Real estate agents and townsite promoters of the period were given to representing that distinguished personages had invested in their enterprises and it isn't improbable that some of them boasted of having interested Webster.

An examination of the old records fails to disclose Webster's ownership of property there. If he invested, the title to the land was never in his name.

Salisbury received no impetus by reason of being associated with Webster's longing for a home in the west. It never progressed beyond the status of a mill-site town, which was still casting votes for Andrew Jackson when Abraham Lincoln was a candidate for United States senator.

ORDERS NAVY DAY SPEECHES CONFINED TO NAVAL HISTORY

SECRETARY ACTS TO PREVENT NAVY OFFICERS FROM VOIC- ING BIG SENTIMENTS

Washington, Oct. 22.—(U.P.)—Secretary of Navy Adams has ordered naval officers who make public speeches on Navy day this year to confine their oratory to the history of the navy.

The instructions went out Tuesday. They superceded a list of approved topics for navy officers to discuss on Navy day—next Tuesday—which included such controversial subjects as building programs, treaty relations and naval economies.

Navy day falls this year in the midst of a dispute over naval expenditures in which President Hoover has ordered a $61,000,000 reduction and the navy has intimated inability to cut so much.

Under these circumstances, Adams acted to prevent naval officers voicing big navy sentiments.

As news of Adams' order leaked today it became known Mr. Hoover had vetoed two proposals of the admirals for economy. It has been suggested that the sight-seeing cruise of the U. S. S. Constitution be interrupted so that the craft might be laid up and that the Navy band be disbanded. It was indicated at the White House that Mr. Hoover thought the "inspirational value" of the Constitution was too great to interrupt its cruise to south Atlantic and Gulf ports and that to eliminate the Navy band would "take the joy out of life."

Rites for Mrs. Seely, Motley Matron, Held

On Sunday morning Mrs. Eugene Seely of Motley died at the family residence, after an illness of two days. She had gone with others after her daughter who is teaching school north of Motley. On the trip she complained of not feeling well and in a little over 40 hours had died.

Mrs. Seely would have been 58 years of age next week. She had lived in central Minnesota her entire life. The funeral was held Tuesday from the Methodist church in Motley.

Workmen who were remodeling one of the buildings at the old fort recently unearthed an arrow stuck in the adobe roof of the building.

Musical Club to Have Charge of Christmas Seal Sale in City

The Brainerd Musical Club, with Mrs. W. C. Rasch as chairman, will have local charge of the Christmas Seal sale according to an announcement just received from the Minnesota Public Health Association, which directs the sale throughout the state.

The campaign opens Thanksgiving Day and closes on Christmas, finances the fight against tuberculosis, and provides funds for local health work.

Plans for the campaign, which includes a program of education in each community to accompany the sale of seals, are already underway.

Lack of Restraint Causes Arrest of Staples Tippler

It doesn't pay to express your opinion in too loud speech and too rough terms, especially if one happens to have inhibited too freely, according to the experience of one man in Staples. The rumor that is around town is that this man drove up to one of the filling stations and began the proud boast that no person was able to arrest him, and expressed his opinion of Staples and the folks in it in no light terms. He was warned to keep still, but failed to heed the warning, was picked up, tried and caused to pay a tidy little sum toward the city treasury, by way of a fine.

ROCHESTER WINS 1932 CONVENTION OF STATE P. T. A.

VIRGINIA SUPPORTERS SWING
OVER IN BALLOTING IN BOARD
MEET LAST NIGHT

Rochester was awarded the 1932 convention of the Minnesota Congress of Parents and Teachers at the closing of the ninth annual convention. The award was made at the post convention board meeting in the Ransford hotel last night.

The choice of Rochester was made unanimous after a preliminary ballot revealed that the southern Minnesota city was favored by a vote of 16 to 8 over Virginia. Supporters of Virginia changed their votes on the second ballot.

Officers elected for a two year term at the Wednesday afternoon session included Mrs. A. Enkema, Minneapolis, first vice president; Mrs. H. W.
Froehlich, Thief River Falls, third vice president; Mrs. G. A. Cashman, fifth vice president; Mrs. A. L. Lather, Duluth, sixth vice president; Dr. John E. Anderson, Minneapolis, seventh vice president; Mrs. Holmes Swenson, recording secretary.

Other officers will be elected next October. The convention went on record as favoring the eighteenth amendment and reaffirmed its stand against the use of habit forming drugs.

The congress urged that in view of present economic conditions the most careful consideration of the problems faced by schools and the present high standards in the public schools be maintained.

UNDEFEATED ELEVENS TO CLASH IN WEEK'S HEADLINE GAME

EYES OF FOOTBALL
WORLD ON IRISH
PITTSBURGH TILTGAME MARKS THE SECOND OF
NOTRE DAME'S FOUR HARDEST
BATTLES

Chicago, Oct. 22.—(U.P.)—Two undefeated, unscathed upon elevens will square off against each other when Notre Dame meets Pittsburgh before a crowd of 40,000 at South Bend Saturday.

Pittsburgh comes west for the second time this year, having previously defeated Iowa, 20-0, at Iowa City. The Panthers have rolled up 147 points in four games and haven't had their goal line crossed.

Pitt's line, according to John Frederick and Ike Voedisch, Notre Dame scouts, is better than Northwestern's forward wall. McMurdo, a 220-pound giant, and Quatse at tackles are as good as Marvel and Riley, Northwestern's two 220-pounders, according to the Notre Dame scouts. If they are any better than all-America recognition is none too good for them.

In the Notre Dame-Northwestern scoreless tie in the rain and mud at Soldier field, Riley and Marvel of Northwestern and Krause and Kurth of Notre Dame looked like the four best tackles that would get together on one field at the same time this year. If Riley and Krause continue to play up to the standard of the Northwestern-Notre Dame game, they are almost certain to make the all-America team.

If McMurdo, who starred against Iowa, can outplay Krause, then there will be no argument about the best tackle of the 1931 season.

The Pitt game marks the second of Notre Dame's four hardest battles. The first was the Northwestern game which ended in a deadlock. If the Irish get by Pitt, then they do not have another crucial game until Southern California's high-powered scoring machine comes to South Bend, November 21. The last difficult game for the Irish will be the season's final against Army at New York November 28.

Pittsburgh has a veteran team, with the exception of Bob Hogan, sophomore quarterback. Dr. Jack Sutherland has his offense working so smoothly that he sent his regulars in for eight plays against Western Reserve last Saturday. They scored in this time and then were replaced by reserves. Against Iowa Pitt gained 377 yards from scrimmage, using only four plays, and 58 yards on passes. Iowa was able to gain only 58 yards on running plays and 14 yards on passes.

Pitt's record follows:
61 Miami 0.
20 Iowa 0.
34 West Virginia 0.
33 Western Reserve 0.
147 opponents 0.

Last year's March Schwartz's 60-yard run for a touchdown on the first play of the game from scrimmage demoralized the Panthers, and the Irish piled up 35 points before Knute Rockne sent in the shock troops. Pitt was able to score three touchdowns in the latter part of the game on the shock troops.

On the Sidelines

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 22.—(U.P.)—John Hass, diminutive sprinter, exhibited skill as a pass receiver in yesterday's drill and probably will see much service in the Minnesota backfield against Iowa. Ken MacDougall, midget quarterback, scrimmaged yesterday with his broken thumb in a cast and insists it doesn't handicap him.

Iowa City, Iowa, Oct. 22.—(U.P.)—Randall Hickman and Jerome Kriz, Iowa's injured halfbacks, will be ready to play against Minnesota Saturday. Kriz's shoulder is still bothering him, but not enough to keep him out of the game. The Hawkeyes will leave for Minneapolis tonight.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—(U.P.)—John Spearling, 193-pound tackle and heaviest Chicago lineman, has a charley horse and may not be able to play against Indiana Saturday. If Spearling is unavailable, Coach Stagg will have a hard time finding a capable substitute because of the lack of reserve strength.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 22.—(U.P.)—Indiana's pass attack, built around Sabik and Opasik, has been coming along well in practice this week and Coach E. C. Hayes expects it to give the Hoosiers a scoring punch against Chicago.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 22.—(U.P.)—With most of Purdue's regular backs injured, Paul Pardoner, stocky little Italian, and Fred Hecker, Houston, Tex., sophomore, are expected to lead the Boilermakers' attack against Carnegie Tech. at Pittsburgh Saturday. Hecker's passing to Paul Moss featured yesterday's drill.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 22.—(U.P.)—After a light workout today the Wisconsin varsity, numbering 33 players, was scheduled to leave for Philadelphia to play Pennsylvania Saturday. The Badgers had their last hard workout yesterday.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 22.—(U.P.)—Illinois line will be composed entirely of sophomores in Saturday's homecoming game with Michigan. The makeup follows: Hedtke, center; Gorenstein and May or Platt, guards; Hyink and O'Neill, tackles; Marriner and Frink, ends.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 22.—(U.P.)—Michigan probably will lineup as follows from the Illinois game: Petoskey and Williamson, ends; Auer and Wistert, tackles; Hoyer and La Juenes, guards; Morrison, center; Newman, quarterback; Fay and Jack Heston, halfbacks; Hewitt, fullback. Capt. Hudson has an injury which probably will keep him out of action.

Evanston, Ill., Oct. 22.—(U.P.)—Despite the fact that all four of Northwestern's regular backs have minor injuries, Ollie Olson, sophomore fullback, is the only one who may not start Saturday's game against Ohio State. Olson will play, but Al Moore, reserve fullback for two years who played well against U. C. L. A. last week, probably will start.

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 22.—(U.P.)—Coach Hearty Anderson will rely on the aggressiveness of the Notre Dame line and adaptability of the entire team to stop Pittsburgh's attack Saturday inasmuch as little or nothing is known of the Panthers' offense. Notre Dame scouts have seen Pitt use only one play this year, and the Irish wouldn't be surprised if Pitt used an entirely new attack.

Columbus, O., Oct. 22.—(U.P.)—Confident that the Ohio State attack which outgained Vanderbilt and Michigan would do the same thing against Northwestern, Coach Sam Willaman has not scrimmaged the Buckeye regulars this week. Most of the time has been spent working on fundamentals. Willaman is undecided whether to start Capt. Holcomb or Bill Carroll, "the blonde express," at right halfback.

5 INTERSECTIONAL
BATTLES DOMINATE
MID-SEASON CARDDRAKE'S BATTLE WITH FORD-
HAM, MARQUETTE WITH BOS-
TON MID-WEST HEADLINERS

New York, Oct. 22.—(U.P.)—With five intersectional contests and two clashes of unbeaten elevens topping the schedule, Saturday's football program is the finest the east has offered this season.

With their color and ballyhoo in addition to the prospect of fine football, the intersectional contests contribute the largest share of interest.

Cambridge, Mass., will be the scene of the No. 1 tilt with Harvard, "only unbeaten member of the once proud 'Big Three,'" entertaining Texas. Harvard's brilliant triumph over Army last week has made the Johnnies favorites but reports from the southwest indicate there will be no overconfidence in the Harvard camp.

Pennsylvania, another eastern team which boasts a clean slate, will play host to Wisconsin's Badgers, one of the current co-favorites for Big Ten conference honors. The game marks Wisconsin's first football invasion of the east in modern times.

Purdue, second Big Ten representative, invades Pittsburgh to meet Carnegie Tech. Defeats by Wisconsin and W. & J. respectively already have "ruined" the season for the two rivals but this will not prevent them from attempting to ruin each other.

The other intersectional contests feature a pair of mid-west's stronger minor schools, Drake and Marquette, against Fordham and Boston college at New York and Boston respectively.

Both of the contests between the undefeated eastern clubs will be played in New York, Columbia entertaining Williams at Baker field and N. Y. N. opposing Colgate at Yankee stadium.

The east still has other ace attractions in Yale vs. Army at New Haven, Conn., and Navy vs. Princeton at Princeton.

Sons of Rockne Hear

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 17.—(U.P.)—The late Knute Rockne's two sons, William and Knute, Jr., heard his voice last night.

The sons of the Notre Dame football coach, students in the Pembroke school here, were guests at a showing of the motion picture, "The Spirit of Notre Dame."

Rockne's voice, from a recording, is heard from the screen addressing the players. Only the listening team is seen.

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 22.—(U.P.)—Coach Hearty Anderson will rely on the aggressiveness of the Notre Dame line and adaptability of the entire team to stop Pittsburgh's attack Saturday inasmuch as little or nothing is known of the Panthers' offense. A real Western rodeo with yipping cowboys attired in jangling spurs, wooly chaps, and huge gallon hats will transform the huge University of Minnesota fieldhouse into a range scene during both evenings of the 1931 "Roundup" Homecoming celebration at the University campus on October 30 and 31.

Permission to use the fieldhouse for the rodeo and to construct the corral and riding arena was given by Herbert O. Crisler, athletic director and head football coach, upon his arrival from Palo Alto Tuesday night.

Gardner English, senior in the college for Business Administration, of Minneapolis, has been named to take charge of the mammoth rodeo.

Rope throwing, steen-throwing and riding contests have been planned. The arched ceiling of the great fieldhouse will echo with cries of "ride 'em cowboy." Visitors will gasp at exhibitions of skill and speed in roping, bulldogging and hogtiegging of steers.

The entire campus will be transformed into a typical cow town as fraternity and sorority houses decorated in keeping with the "Roundup" theme. Prizes will be awarded to houses decorated in the best Western style.

Immediately preceding the rodeo on October 30 will be the annual bonfire and pep-feat. Members of the team will be presented to the crowd. Led by Robert Hurrie, rooster king and his staff of cheer leaders, the huge throng will cheer the team.

Topping the morning program Saturday will be an elaborate parade of creaking chuck wagons, stubborn cows and rushing cowboys and cowgirls. Campus clubs and Twin City firms will be represented in the line of march by floats decorated with appropriate rodeo designs.

Paris, Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—Private Primo Carnera went on the French army lists today as a deserter when he failed to report to the 158th infantry regiment at Strasbourg as a naturalized French conscript soldier.

Army authorities said this afternoon they were not surprised that Carnera did not report, for he had not complied with any of the physical examinations or other preliminary steps.

Orders have gone out to the police to arrest him upon sight in France and carry him under guard to the regional guardhouse at Strasbourg.

Carnera, as a building laborer, applied for French citizenship long before he became a prize fighter. After that his naturalization took its course without any further action on his part and while he was in America, the courts proclaimed him a French citizen enjoying all the rights—including 12 months compulsory military service.

UNDEFEATED ELEVENS TO CLASH IN WEEK'S HEADLINE GAME

EYES OF FOOTBALL
WORLD ON IRISH
PITTSBURGH TILTGAME MARKS THE SECOND OF
NOTRE DAME'S FOUR HARDEST
BATTLES

Chicago, Oct. 22.—(UP)—Two undefeated, unscored upon elevens will square off against each other when Notre Dame meets Pittsburgh before a crowd of 40,000 at South Bend Saturday.

Pittsburgh comes west for the second time this year, having previously defeated Iowa, 20-0, at Iowa City. The Panthers have rolled up 147 points in four games and haven't had their goal line crossed.

Pitt's line, according to John Frederick and Ike Voedisch, Notre Dame scouts, is better than Northwestern's forward wall. McMurdo, a 220-pound giant, and Quate at tackles are as good as Marv and Riley, Northwestern's two 220-pounders, according to the Notre Dame scouts. If they are any better than all-America recognition is none too good for them.

In the Notre Dame-Northwestern scoreless tie in the rain and mud at Soldier field, Riley and Marv of Northwestern and Krause and Kurth of Notre Dame looked like the four best tackles that would meet together on one field at the same time this year. If Riley and Krause continue to play up to the standard of the Northwestern-Notre Dame game, they are almost certain to make the all-America team.

If McMurdo, who starred against Iowa, can outplay Krause, then there will be no argument about the best tackle of the 1931 season.

The Pitt game marks the second of Notre Dame's four hardest battles. The first was the Northwestern game which ended in a deadlock. If the Irish get by Pitt, then they do not have another crucial game until Southern California's high-powered scoring machine comes to South Bend, November 21. The last difficult game for the Irish will be the season's final against Army at New York November 28.

Pittsburgh has a veteran team, with the exception of Bob Hogan, sophomore quarterback. Dr. Jock Sutherland has his offense working so smoothly that he sent his regulars in for eight plays against Western Reserve last Saturday. They scored in this time and then were replaced by reserves. Against Iowa Pitt gained 377 yards from scrimmage, using only four plays, and 58 yards on passes. Iowa was able to gain only 58 yards on running plays and 14 yards on passes.

Pitt's record follows:
61 Miami 0.
20 Iowa 0.
34 West Virginia 0.
33 Western Reserve 0.
147 opponents 0.

Last year's March Schwartz's 60-yard run for a touchdown on the first play of the game from scrimmage demoralized the Panthers, and the Irish piled up 35 points before Knute Rockne sent in the shock troops. Pitt was able to score three touchdowns in the latter part of the game on the shock troops.

On the Sidelines

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 22.—(UP)—John Hass, diminutive sprinter, exhibited skill as a pass receiver in yesterday's drill and probably will see much service in the Minnesota backfield against Iowa. Ken MacDougall, midget quarterback, scrimmaged yesterday with his broken thumb in a cast and insists it doesn't handicap him.

Iowa City, Iowa, Oct. 22.—(UP)—Randall Hickman and Jerome Kriz, Iowa's injured halfbacks, will be ready to play against Minnesota Saturday. Kriz's shoulder is still bothering him, but not enough to keep him out of the game. The Hawkeyes will leave for Minneapolis tonight.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—(UP)—John Spear, 193-pound tackle and heaviest Chicago lineman, has a charley horse and may not be able to play against Indiana Saturday. If Spear is unavailable, Coach Staggs will have a hard time finding a capable substitute because of the lack of reserve strength.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 22.—(UP)—Indiana's pass attack, built around Sabik and Opasik, has been coming along well in practice this week and Coach E. C. Hayes expects it to give the Hoosiers a scoring punch against Chicago.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 22.—(UP)—With most of Purdue's regular backs injured, Paul Pardonner, stocky little Italian, and Fred Hecker, Houston, Tex. sophomore, are expected to lead the Boilermakers' attack against Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh Saturday. Hecker's passing to Paul Moss featured yesterday's drill.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 22.—(UP)—After a light workout today the Wisconsin varsity, numbering 33 players, was scheduled to leave for Philadelphia to play Pennsylvania Saturday. The Badgers had their last hard workout yesterday.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 22.—(UP)—Illinois line will be composed entirely of sophomores in Saturday's homecoming game with Michigan. The makeup follows: Hedtke, center; Gorenstein and May or Platt, guards; Hyink and O'Neill, tackles; Marriner and Frink, ends.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 22.—(UP)—Michigan probably will lineup as follows from the Illinois game: Petoskey and Williamson, ends; Auer and Wistert, tackles; Hoyer and La Juenesse, guards; Morrison, center; Newman, quarterback; Fay and Jack Heston, halfbacks; Hewitt, fullback. Capt. Hudson has an injury which probably will keep him out of action.

Evanston, Ill., Oct. 22.—(UP)—Despite the fact that all four of Northwestern's regular backs have minor injuries, Ollie Olson, sophomore fullback, is the only one who may not start Saturday's game against Ohio State. Olson will play, but Al Moore, reserve fullback for two years who played well against U. C. L. A. last week, probably will start.

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 22.—(UP)—Coach Harty Anderson will rely on the aggressiveness of the Notre Dame line and adaptability of the entire team to stop Pittsburgh's attack Saturday inasmuch as little or nothing is known of the Panthers' offense. Notre Dame scouts have seen Pitt use only one play this year, and the Irish wouldn't be surprised if Pitt used an entirely new attack.

Columbus, O., Oct. 22.—(UP)—Confident that the Ohio State attack which outgained Vanderbilt and Michigan would do the same thing against Northwestern, Coach Sam Willaman has not scrimmaged the Buckeye regulars this week. Most of the time has been spent working on fundamentals. Willaman is undecided whether to start Capt. Holcomb or Bill Carroll, "the blonde express," at right halfback.

5 INTERSECTIONAL
BATTLES DOMINATE
MID-SEASON CARDDRAKE'S BATTLE WITH FORD-
HAM, MARQUETTE WITH BOS-
TON MID-WEST HEADLINERS

New York, Oct. 22.—(UP)—With five intersectional contests and two clashes of unbeaten elevens topping the schedule, Saturday's football program is the finest the east has offered this season.

With their color and ballyhoo in addition to the prospect of fine football, the intersectional contests contribute the largest share of interest.

Cambridge, Mass., will be the scene of the No. 1 tilt with Harvard, only unbeaten member of the once proud "Big Three," entertaining Texas. Harvard's brilliant triumph over Army last week has made the Johnnies favorites but reports from the southwest indicate there will be no overconfidence in the Harvard camp.

Pennsylvania, another eastern team which boasts a clean slate, will play host to Wisconsin's Badgers, one of the current co-favorites for Big Ten conference honors. The game marks Wisconsin's first football invasion of the east in modern times.

Purdue, second Big Ten representative, invades Pittsburgh to meet Carnegie Tech. Defeats by Wisconsin and W. & J. respectively already have "ruined" the season for the two rivals but this will not prevent them from attempting to ruin each other.

The other intersectional contests feature a pair of mid-west's stronger minor schools, Drake and Marquette, against Fordham and Boston college at New York and Boston respectively. Both of the contests between the undefeated eastern clubs will be played in New York, Columbia entertaining Williams at Baker field and N. Y. N. opposing Colgate at Yankee stadium.

The east still has other attractions in Yale vs. Army at New Haven, Conn., and Navy vs. Princeton at Princeton.

Sons of Rockne Hear

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 17.—(UP)—Late Knute Rockne's two sons, William and Knute, Jr., heard his voice last night.

The sons of the Notre Dame football coach, students in the Pembroke school here, were guests at a showing of the motion picture, "The Spirit of Notre Dame."

Rockne's voice, from a recording, is heard from the screen addressing the players. Only the listening team is seen.

READY ACCEPTANCE PLEASING--

Knowledge that Northwest Paper Company has accepted terms of the water and light board whereby it will obtain power from the Minnesota Power and Light Company over a line to be built by the city is pleasant news. It bespeaks the perfect harmony which exists between the administrative officers of Brainerd and its industrial units.

The plan conceived and fostered by the water and light board, is typical of the work of this conscientious body. Charged with the responsibility of providing the citizenry of Brainerd with an imperative service, the water and light board not only has been fulfilling its pledge but has also ably demonstrated that it can acquire its duties as good and, time has shown better in instances, than private organizations who must pay big salaries to many and high executives.

News of the acceptance is indeed pleasant to employees of the paper company. About 125 are virtually assured work throughout the coming winter and there is a great possibility of adding more with the production of several new paper products now being considered.

KEEP PEACE IN MANCHURIA--

Any way you look at it, Manchuria is a long way off. Furthermore, most of the leading figures and places in the Manchurian mix-up have names that are hard to pronounce and hard to remember. The ordinary American, as a result, is beginning to get tired of hearing about it all and is wondering just why he or his government should worry about it.

Yet the whole business is not nearly as remote as it looks. Indeed, the very fact that the United States government is working its hardest to avert a war on the other side of the world testifies eloquently to the way in which modern society has made all of its members interdependent.

Offhand, it doesn't seem as if any American need care whether or not the Chinese and the Japanese go to war.

And yet, in the spring of 1914, no American would have dreamed that a war between Austria and Serbia could ever involve him.

The point is that there can no longer be any "isolated" wars. The ties that connect nation with nation have grown too complex, too strong. When an armed conflict starts, no man on earth is wise enough to say just where and how it may end. There may not seem any conceivable way in which an every-day American citizen could be concerned over a war in Manchuria; and yet, if such a war lasted long enough, he might eventually find himself in the midst of it.

The world is just beginning to discover this fact; and the efforts that are being made now, by the great powers, to keep the peace in Asia are entirely unlike what they would have been if a similar crisis had arisen 20 years ago. In that earlier time, the powers would have intervened—if they did intervene—through jealousy. They would have tried to keep Japan from seizing Manchuria so that they themselves, at some favorable opportunity, could seize it.

Today, however, there is a dawning recognition of the fact that the world cannot afford to have a war start anywhere. Upon the speed and thoroughness with which that lesson is learned depends the hope for world peace, now and in the future.

ESCAPE FROM REALITY--

Given a mild and sunshiny Sunday in the fall of the year, anywhere from a fourth to one-half of the city dwellers of the United States will get into their automobiles and spend a few hours in the open country.

These excursions are utterly aimless. They lead nowhere, and they usually represent no more planning than is implied in the remark, "Let's all go for a drive." But when you add them all together they probably give the average motorist more enjoyment than anything else he can do for him.

For they provide, in one way and another, the illusion of escape. For just a few hours they enable tired men and women to imagine that the city, with its monotonous jobs, its close confinement and its endless vistas of tightly-packed houses and smoky chimneys, has somehow dissolved in the autumn haze.

The world is getting pretty thoroughly urbanized, and a great many of us wouldn't know how to act if we were asked to live on a farm. But we have, nevertheless, an inborn yearning for the open country, a distrust of the cities in which we make our homes, a feeling that man cannot be entirely healthy unless he can dip his soul into the open air now and then and look wistfully on groves of trees and empty, sun-flecked meadows.

So it is that America puts itself on wheels every week-end; and the jammed "Sunday traffic" that makes main-road drivers swear wearily represents a groping for a better way of life than most of us can get.

To be sure, this weekly irruption of city folk into the country isn't altogether lovely to look at. It fills pleasant country roads with dust, noise and the fumes of burned gasoline. It creates unholy traffic jams in crossroad hamlets. It spreads picnic debris over peaceful groves. It results in a great many accidents, ruffles an enormous number of tempers and brings thousands of people back to their homes at night utterly wearily and more or less quarrelsome and disgruntled.

But the spirit back of it is clear. Having shut itself into cities, mankind is beginning to realize that it has made a sad mistake and is grasping at the automobile as a means of escape. The escape may be confused, clumsy and unproductive; but it is the best most of us can do, and it goes a long way toward making our unsatisfactory lives endurable.

SPEEDING AND DANGER--

Studies carried on by psychologists of Ohio State University under the auspices of the National Research Council show that the slow automobile driver manages to get involved in more accidents than the fast one; and whether this is simply because there are more of him, or because there is something inherently dangerous about slow driving, it is bound to be of interest to motorists everywhere.

One reason, as the psychologists point out, is that a truly competent driver tends to travel faster than a poor one; and the poor one, plodding along at what he conceives to be a safe pace, manages nevertheless, to get into accidents which a better driver would avoid.

Chiefly, however, the study is interesting as a demonstration of the fact that mere speed, by itself, is not necessarily dangerous. A good driver, hitting a 45-mile clip, can be far less of a menace to public safety than a poor one whose car does not go over 25 miles an hour all the way.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Old Mrs. JUPITER, wife of the millionaire automobile manufacturer, gives an engagement dinner and dance for her secretary, MARY HARKNESS, who is to marry DIRK RUTHER, blue-blooded young lawyer.

Mary receives a telephone call from her stepfather, brother, EDIE, saying he is in trouble and must see her. The house is strictly guarded against "gate-crashers" because Mrs. Jupiter is wearing the famous Jupiter rubies. Mary arranges for Edie to be admitted secretly. When she goes upstairs to meet him she finds Mrs. Jupiter robbed and murdered in her room. Seeking Dirk, she finds him with CORNELIA TARBOR, his childhood sweetheart. Dirk advises her to keep silent about Edie until he can locate the boy. BOWEN, reporter for the Star, shows unusual interest in the case. Mary catches EDIE, a maid, trying to tell Bowen of Edie's supposed visit.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER VII

THERE was time for a lunch tray and a nap before she must be ready to meet Dirk. He had not said so, but Mary felt that they must be going to see Edie. Impatience made her restless, but weariness finally put her to sleep. When Della woke her there was just time for a quick tub and into her clothes before Dirk was due to arrive.

"Gentleman to see you, Miss Harkness."

Mary looked around, surprised at the crispness and formality of the girl's tone. Bessie's mouth was faintly malicious; her nose was lifted superciliously.

"You haven't been talking to that reporter any more, have you, Bessie?" asked Mary sharply.

"They're not going to blame ME for that, Miss Mary!"

"They won't blame you, silly! It will all be explained very shortly. But you mustn't talk about it to anyone just yet. I would have spoken to you about it last night, Bessie, only I trusted to your good judgment to keep still."

The frailty of this plea was apparent to her even as she made it. Bessie's eyes shifted away.

"I don't want the police coming after me," she repeated. Mary forced a laugh.

"They won't. Of course it was very wrong to leave the door open as you did, Bessie. Anyone might have come in and I'm terribly afraid—someone did. Oh, I'm not blaming you," she held out her hand placatingly as Bessie's eyes flashed resentfully. "I'm blaming myself for not having attended to it. I'd no business leaving it to you."

"My place was in the dining-room, you know that, Miss Mary!" the girl said, accusingly. "It was Barclay's place to watch the door."

"I know that," Mary agreed, wearily. She must not give way to her fears before the girl, she remembered, and drew herself up with a reassuring smile.

"Well, it's possible we've neither of us anything to feel to blame for," she said. "After all, we don't know that anyone came in then. Not even Mr. Edie. In fact, I don't believe he came at all."

THE maid's look of interest surprised her.

"Oh! It was Mr. Edie you were expecting?"

"Why, yes," said Mary, wonderingly. "Why?"

"Nothing. Only—"

"Only what?"

The maid lowered her voice fearfully.

"He shouldn't ought to have come back like that," she said righteously. "Not after Mr. Jupiter told him what he did."

"Why didn't you tell Inspector Kane your brother was here last night?" Bowen asked.

"Told him? Mr. Jupiter? When was this?"

"Last week when your brother came. You was out, and Mr. Jupiter came down to see him in the library. And Mr. Jupiter told him he was a young smart aleck that needed a lesson and he wouldn't give a penny to pay a gambler's debts."

Mary leaned weakly against the dressing-table.

"Edie was here, and I didn't know it? What else—did they say?"

"I think he wanted to borrow a lot of money. Oh, a lot of money. But Mr. Jupiter told him he was a disgrace to his sister, and to go out and earn it like a man. And he told him he was headed for a gambler's grave if he went on as he was doing, and not to show his face here again. Your brother was just going, and he called him back and said, 'For your sister's sake, I'll give you a job.'"

Bessie warned to her subject, inspired by the impression she was creating on the girl she disliked. "Perhaps I shouldn't ought to tell you—"

Mary faltered. "What did Edie say?"

"Oh, he didn't say much—he just looked at him. And he said, 'No, thank you. I might have known you wouldn't understand.' I felt sorry for the kid, honest! He looked—sick, and he stood so stiff and straight. I let him out—it was Spence's day off and he was at the pictures. He stood outside the door a minute—honest, I thought he was gonna cry. And then he went away."

SHE waited, but there was no appreciative response from her audience. Mary was staring past her dazedly into the face of a deeper humiliation than she had ever known.

"So you see," the maid finished. "He didn't ought to have come back like that. I wouldn't ever have said a word, if I'd known."

"You've told Mr. Jupiter, then?"

"Not him. The reporter. Well, he asked me," she bridled virtuously, "and what could I say?"

"You might have said nothing," Mary thought but she was too occupied with this new phase of things to reproach the girl. After all, one had only to glimpse that pretty, shallow face to know that loyalty was not in her. And technically she was perfectly in the right.

"I wasn't going to have them blaming ME!" Bessie repeated by way of excuse.

Mary waved her away, and with a defiant swish of trim gray skirts she left the room.

Mr. Jupiter was having his post-luncheon nap and there was no time to see him anyway. It was nearly three by her wrist-watch and Dirk was waiting. She hurried down the stairs.

But the man who rose from a half-sitting, half-reclining position in the big armchair by the library fire was not Dirk. It was the Star reporter, Bowen.

Mary turned to go, but he halted her with a word.

"Please, Miss Harkness—don't go. I must see you for a minute."

Mary looked about uncertainly for Dirk. He must be here somewhere—or was this the "gentleman to see you" whom Bessie had announced?

"I'm sorry, I can't talk to you. I'm going out. And besides," she bit her lips to still their tell-tale trembling, and her voice broke, "I'm too upset."

Bowen had reached her side with agility remarkable in a man of his generally rotund appearance. So far as tact would permit, he had placed himself between her and the door, and cut off her retreat. It was presumption but this was a big story and he couldn't afford to fail.

"I know I must seem a callous brute," he said, "asking you questions just at this time. But in the very nature of things, you know, news can't wait. And there's something that you and no one else, can tell me—" nically she was perfectly in the right.

MARY said resignedly, "I suppose you mean about my brother." And could not resist adding, "I should have thought your interviews with the servants would have given you all the material you need."

"Let's get down to business, Miss Harkness. Why didn't you tell Inspector Kane that your brother was here last night?"

"Because," Mary retorted. "I don't know that he was. And neither does anyone else."

"You expected him, though?"

"Yes. He telephoned me about half after 12 that he was in trouble, and must see me at once. The maid should have let him in. You understand that was necessary, because no one was being admitted except invited guests. But she was busy, and she carelessly left the door unlocked. No one came, or went, that we know of. I locked the door again myself, after I came down from—up there."

"But someone might have come and gone, you admit that. And it might have been your brother. And during that time—how long was it?—about 20 minutes altogether—Mrs. Jupiter was robbed and killed."

"Yes. But Edie had nothing to do with it. I'm sure of that as I am of God." Their eyes met and held. "You believe me, don't you?"

Before the sincerity in the girl's gray eyes, Bowen found himself saying "Yes," and meaning it.

"You won't put anything in your paper about it, will you?"

Bowen hesitated, but only for a minute. "I have to, Mrs. Harkness." There was real regret in his voice.

"You couldn't wait just until I see my brother and find out what he knows?"

"Perhaps I could do that. When are you seeing him?"

"This afternoon. Now. As soon as Mr. Rutherford comes." She looked at her wrist watch. Dirk had not come, and it was long past the hour! He was not in the house, evidently; worriedly, she took up the telephone, and called his home.

The newspaperman's zeal for a beat began to gleam in Bowen's eyes. The spell that beauty in distress had cast over him for the moment abated before the thrilling realization that the biggest story in years was in reach of his hand. Lovely this girl might be, and ever so innocent, but her brother was a red-handed murderer, if ever there was one, according to his way of thinking.

"May I go with you?" he asked, eagerly. "Whatever your brother's story is, it must be told some time, and if I could get to him first—"

But Mary was not listening; she was waiting tensely while a maid went to call Dirk to the telephone.

Presently a woman's tones came drifting over the wire. Mrs. Rutherford's.

"Oh, Mary," she said, languidly. "Dirk asked me to call him, but the poor boy is sleeping so soundly! I hadn't the heart to wake him. Can't it wait awhile, whatever it is?"

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and mawkish and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes three good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

"Told him? Mr. Jupiter? When was this?"

"Last week when your brother came. You was out, and Mr. Jupiter came down to see him in the library. And Mr. Jupiter told him he was a young smart aleck that needed a lesson and he wouldn't give a penny to pay a gambler's debts."

Mary leaned weakly against the dressing-table.

"Eddie was here, and I didn't know it? What else—did they say?"

"I think he wanted to borrow a lot of money. Oh, a lot of money. But Mr. Jupiter told him he was a disgrace to his sister, and to go out and earn it like a man. And he told him he was headed for a gambler's grave if he went on as he was doing, and not to show his face here again. Your brother was just going, and he called him back and said, 'For your sister's sake, I'll give you a job.'"

Bessie warned to her subject, inspired by the impression she was creating on the girl she disliked. "Perhaps I shouldn't ought to tell you—"

Mary faltered. "What did Eddie say?"

"Oh, he didn't say much—he just looked at him. And he said, 'No, thank you. I let him out—it was Spence's day off and he was at the pictures. He stood outside the door a minute—honest, I thought he was gonna cry. And then he went away.'"

SHE waited, but there was no appreciative response from her audience. Mary was staring past her dazedly into the face of a deeper humiliation than she had ever known.

"So you see," the maid finished, "he didn't ought to have come back like that. I wouldn't ever have said a word, if I'd known."

"You've told Mr. Jupiter, then?"

"Not him. The reporter. Well, he asked me," she bridled virtuously, "and what could I say?"

"You might have said nothing," Mary thought but she was too occupied with this new phase of things to reproach the girl. After all, one had only to glimpse that pretty, shallow face to know that loyalty was not in her. And technically she was perfectly in the right.

"I wasn't going to have them blaming ME!" Bessie repeated by way of excuse.

Mary waved her away, and with a defiant swish of trim gray skirts she left the room.

Mr. Jupiter was having his post-luncheon nap and there was no time to see him anyway. It was nearly three by her wrist-watch and Dirk was waiting. She hurried down the stairs.

But the man who rose from a half-sitting, half-reclining position in the big armchair by the library fire was not Dirk. It was the Star reporter, Bowen.

Mary turned to go, but he halted her with a word.

"Please, Miss Harkness—don't go. I must see you for a minute."

Mary looked about uncertainly for Dirk. He must be here somewhere—or was this the "gentleman to see you" whom Bessie had announced?

"I'm sorry, I can't talk to you, I'm going out. And besides," she bit her lips to still their tell-tale trembling, and her voice broke, "I'm too upset."

Bowen had reached her side with agility remarkable in a man of his generally rotund appearance. So far as tact would permit, he had placed himself between her and the door, and cut off her retreat. It was presumption but this was a big story and he couldn't afford to fail.

"I know I must seem a callous brute," he said, "asking you questions just at this time. But in the very nature of things, you know, news can't wait. And there's something that you and no one else, can tell me—"

MARY said resignedly, "I suppose you mean about my brother." And could not resist adding, "I should have thought your interviews with the servants would have given you all the material you need."

"Let's get down to business, Miss Harkness. Why didn't you tell Inspector Kane that your brother was here last night?"

"Because," Mary retorted. "I don't know that he was. And neither does anyone else."

"You expected him, though?"

"Yes. He telephoned me about half after 12 that he was in trouble, and must see me at once. The maid should have let him in. You understand that was necessary, because no one was being admitted except invited guests. But she was busy, and she carelessly left the door unlocked. No one came, or went, that we know of. I locked the door again myself, after I came down from—up there."

"But someone might have come and gone, you admit that. And it might have been your brother. And during that time—how long was it?—about 20 minutes altogether—Mrs. Jupiter was robbed and killed."

"Yes. But Eddie had nothing to do with it. I'm as sure of that as I am of God." Their eyes met and held. "You believe me, don't you?"

Before the sincerity in the girl's gray eyes, Bowen found himself saying "Yes," and meaning it.

"You won't put anything in your paper about it, will you?"

Bowen hesitated, but only for a minute. "I have to, Miss Harkness. There was real regret in his voice."

"You couldn't wait just until I see my brother and find out what he knows?"

"Perhaps I could do that. When are you seeing him?"

"This afternoon. Now. As soon as Mr. Ruyter comes." She looked at her wrist watch. Dirk had not come, and it was long past the hour! He was not in the house, evidently; worriedly, she took up the telephone, and called his home.

The newspaperman's zeal for a beat began to gleam in Bowen's eyes. The spell that beauty in distress had cast over him for the moment abated before the thrilling realization that the biggest story in years was in reach of his hand. Lovely this girl might be, and ever so innocent, but her brother was a red-handed murderer, if ever there was one, according to his way of thinking.

"May I go with you?" he asked, eagerly. "Whatever your brother's story is, it must be told some time, and if I could get to him first—"

But Mary was not listening; she was waiting tensely while a maid went to call Dirk to the telephone.

Presently a woman's tones came drifting over the wire. Mrs. Ruyter's.

"Oh, Mary," she said, languidly, "Dirk asked me to call him, but the poor boy is sleeping so soundly! I hadn't the heart to wake him. Can't it wait awhile, whatever it is?"

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

In a few days you'll see an amazing difference—not a pimple on your face!

But don't waste any time just thinking about it. Get right after those ugly, disfiguring pimples today. Get a bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil from Johnson's Pharmacy, Economy Drug Co., H. P. Dunn, Druggist, or any other first-class druggist. He will give you money back if Emerald Oil doesn't clear your face.—Adv.

The same absolute guarantee holds good for sciatica, neuritis and lumbago—quick, joyful relief—no more idle days—it removes the cause.—Adv.

Just a Moment, Please

Are not your eyes your best friends? How long since you had them examined thoroughly?

Of course, they are your eyes, and if you want to abuse them it's your privilege, but the cost of examination is very moderate, so why not be careful?

"No Harsh Irritants for Lupe

I'm a LUCKY fan"

"No harsh irritants for Lupe. I'm a Lucky fan. There's no question about it—Luckies are certainly kind to my throat. And hurrah for that improved Cellophane wrapper of yours—it really opens without a tug-o'-war—thanks to that tab."

Lupe Velez

What a grand addition to Hollywood and the screen is Lupe Velez, the wittiest and liveliest little Mexican beauty who ever hopped the Rio Grande. Hollywood adores her. She will cavort for us next in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's fine picture, "The Cuban Love Song."

Made of the finest tobaccos—
The Cream of many Crops—LUCKY STRIKE alone offers the throat protection of the exclusive "TOASTING" Process which includes the use of modern Ultra Violet Rays—the process that expels certain harsh, biting irritants naturally present in every tobacco leaf. These expelled irritants are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE. "They're out—so they can't be in!" No wonder LUCKIES are always kind to your throat.

★ Is Miss Velez's Statement Paid For?

You may be interested in knowing that not one cent was paid to Miss Velez to make the above statement. Miss Velez has been a smoker of LUCKY STRIKE cigarettes for 2 years. We hope the publicity herewith given will be as beneficial to her and to M-G-M, her producers, as her endorsement of LUCKIES is to you and to us.
